project description

D.B. Hartt, Inc. was retained by Willoughby Hills to assist the City in updating its Comprehensive Land Use Plan. Though located about twenty minutes from Downtown Cleveland, Willoughby Hills still retains some rural characteristics and is appropriately known as “where the city meets the country.” The plan for Willoughby Hills addressed economic development opportunities and strategies to preserve and maintain key natural areas. D.B. Hartt facilitated the 12-month planning process, which included a twenty-eight person citizens advisory committee convened to help guide the planning process.
